

Getting Started

Welcome Screen

Firefly III has very simple welcome screen to get you started with the most basic of setups:

The screenshot shows the 'Welcome to Firefly III!' screen. On the left, there's a dark sidebar with a flame icon and the text 'Welcome to Firefly III!'. The main content area is titled 'Getting started' and contains a 'Welcome to Firefly III!' section. This section explains that the user has successfully installed Firefly III and provides instructions on how to get started by entering their bank's name and the balance of their main checking account. It also mentions that multiple accounts can be added later. Below this text are three input fields: 'Bank name' (a text box), 'Balance' (a text box with a currency dropdown menu set to '€'), and 'Savings balance' (a text box with the value '0'). A green note states: 'If the currency you normally use is not listed do not worry. You can create your own currencies under Options > Currencies.' Another note says: 'Firefly III will automatically create a savings account for you. By default, there will be no money in your savings account, but if you tell Firefly III the balance it will be stored as such.' Below these notes is a 'Language' dropdown menu set to 'English (US) (English (US))'. At the bottom, a message says: 'That's it! You can continue by pressing Submit. You will be taken to the index of Firefly III.' A green 'Submit' button is located at the bottom right of the form.

Introduction Guidance

The first time you visit ANY page, the introduction guidance will pop up and walk you through the details on that page.

You can always re-enable it by hitting the "Question Mark" button in the header, and selecting "re-enable introduction guidance".
